WHO Age Friendly domains with WHO Core indicators	Public Health Outcomes Framework	Adult Social Care Outcomes Framework	GM Strategy Targets
Outdoor Spaces and Buildings • Accessibility of public spaces and buildings • Neighbourhood walkability • Self ravted quality of life	• Utilsisation of outdoor space for exercise/health reasons • Excess weight in adults • Proportion of physically active and inactive adults • Injuries due to falls in people aged 65 and over • Hip fractures in people aged 65 & over • Health related quality of life for older people	• Social care related quality of life	• Older people feel neighbourhoods are age friendly • Hospital admissions due to falls
Transport • Accessibility of public transportation vehicles • Accessibility of public transportation stops • Self rated quality of life	• Social isolation • Proportion of physically active and inactive adults • Excess weight in adults • Injuries due to falls in people aged 65 and over • Health related quality of life for older people	• Social care related quality of life	• Older people feel neighbourhoods are age friendly • Hospital admissions due to falls
Housing • Neighbourhood walkability • Affordability of housing • Economic security	• Statutory homelessness • Fuel poverty • Excess winter deaths • Social isolation	• Social care related quality of life • Service users subsequently requiring no ongoing support or lower level of it	• Older people feel neighbourhoods are age friendly • Hospital admissions due to falls
Social Participation • Positive social attitude toward older people • Engagement in volunteer activity • Engagement in socio-cultural activity • Participation in local decision making • Self-rated quality of life	• Social isolation • Take up of NHS health check programme • Self-reported wellbeing • Health related quality of life for older people • Pupil absence • First time entrants to the youth justice system • Estimated diagnosis rate for people with dementia	• Carer reported quality of life • Carers who have as much social contact as they would like • Service users who have as much social contact as they would like • Social care related quality of life • Service users subsequently requiring no ongoing support or lower level of it	• adult social care users and carers who have as much social contact as they would like
Respect and Social Inclusion • Positive social attitude toward older people • Engagement in socio-cultural activity • Availability of local information • Availability of health and social services • Self-rated quality of life	• Social isolation • Self-reported wellbeing • Health related quality of life for older people	• Social care related quality of life
Civic participation and employment • Engagement in volunteer activity • Engagement in paid employment • Engagement in socio-cultural activity • Participation in local decision making • Economic security • Self-rated quality of life	• Social isolation • Self-reported wellbeing • Health related quality of life for older people • Proportion of physically active and inactive adults • Excess weight in adults	• Carers who have as much social contact as they would like • Service users who have as much social contact as they would like • Social care related quality of life • Service users subsequently requiring no ongoing support or lower level of it	• 50-64yr olds in employment
Communication and Information • Positive social attitude toward older people • Availability of information	• Social isolation • Take up of NHS health check programme • Estimated diagnosis rate for people with dementia	• Social care related quality of life • Service users who find it easy to find information about services • Carers who find it easy to find out information about services
Community support & health services • Receipt of formal community-based services • Healthy life expectancy • Self-rated quality of life	• Social isolation • Take up of NHS health check programme • Estimated diagnosis rate for people with dementia	• Carer reported quality of life • Social care related quality of life	• Hospital admissions due to falls • adult social care users and carers who have as much social contact as they would like